The Black Child Legacy Campaign is the community-driven movement established by the Steering Committee on Reduction of African American Child Deaths, which is working to reduce deaths of African American children in Sacramento County.

The Black Child Legacy Campaign brings together community members, city and county agencies, healthcare providers, community-based organizations and the faith community to address the causes and disproportionate rate of African American children dying in the county.

In Sacramento County, African American children die at twice the rate of any other ethnicity. The top four causes of death are low birth weight, premature birth and other conditions in babies under 1 year old (perinatal conditions), infant sleep-related deaths, child abuse and neglect, and gun violence or homicide from someone other than a family member (third-party homicide). These deaths are preventable.

The Steering Committee on Reduction of African American Child Deaths is funded by the County of Sacramento, City of Sacramento and First 5 Sacramento, and is managed by The Center. Learn more at www.shfcenter.org/raacd.

Seven neighborhoods have the highest numbers of African American child deaths. These neighborhoods are where the Black Child Legacy Campaign's work is focused.
